The "middle world" is the failure of the bourgeois system and its parties. It's necessary the dictatorship of the proletariat!

The mafia-fascist association discovered in Rome shows to which degree has come the decomposition of the bourgeois system.

The "middle world" of the gang of Carminati and Buzzi is evidently organic to the "top world", that is the "respectable" society of the financial oligarchy, its business, its policy, its central and local governments, its parties of right and "left."

As it is impossible to distinguish among "healthy capitalism" and "sick capitalism", so we cannot erect a high wall among "honest" bourgeois politicians and corrupt bourgeois politicians. They are all involved in the attainment of the maximum profit and in the defense with all the means of the privileges of vast layers of parasites.

Organized crime, economic delinquency and political-administrative (bipartisan) delinquency are melted in a sole holding that burdens as a boulder on the working masses.

The mafia shows to be the winning entrepreneurial association in the economic-social environment created by the neo-liberalism: great availability of liquid capital to be invested without controls, absence of rules, total flexibility, absolute precariousness, abuses of power and reactionary violence against the workers are its characteristics, perfectly in line with the model imposed by the financial monopolistic capital.

Who thinks that the situation can be changed with the investigations of the magistracy and the moral sentences deceives himself. It is enough to think that from Tangentopoli to today the corruption is spread, the chiefs of this gang, despite they were known fascists and criminals, were all free of running about, meeting ministers, mayors, and to become wealthy on the shoulders of the poor people.

It is necessary that the popular protest must develop, that one of the workers, unemployed, homeless, migrants, to report the infamous business realized on the poor people, to say enough to the privatizations, to demand the immediate driving out of the corrupts and the punishment of the fascist-mafia scoundrel.

At the same time, in the layer, politically active of the proletariat must grow the awareness that to change really, to make a clean sweep of the anti-people delinquency it takes the social revolution and the installation of the dictatorship of the proletariat to build the socialism, the workers' society.

We cannot go on like this. It takes a revolutionary movement of the exploited and oppressed masses, that develop up to the open conflict against the powers of the capitalistic State.

To promote, to organize and to direct this struggle, to conquer the new society, is essential the political organization of the proletariat: the communist Party, as department of avant-garde, organized and conscious of the proletariat. It is time that the sincere communists and the best elements of the working class must break clearly and definitely with the opportunists, and join the Marxist-Leninists for marching on this road.
